

Dealing with Dysgraphia

Presented by
Dilip J. Karnik, MD
March 6, 2007
6:30 pm - 8:00 pm
Sponsored by

About the Workshop: Dysgraphia is a neurological disorder characterized by writing disabilities. It affects both the physical reproduction of letters and words and the organization of thoughts and ideas in written compositions. Dr. Karnik will define and explain dysgraphia, and how it is diagnosed. He will discuss remediation for children with dysgraphia and address what accommodations need to be made by teachers and parents for the student with dysgraphia.

About Dr. Karnik:

A practicing neurologist in Austin, Texas for 23 years, Dr. Karnik founded the pediatric neurology sub-specialty in the Austin area. Currently he is the Medical Director for Pediatric Neurology with "Specially for Children" as well as The Children's Hospital of Austin. Additionally, Dr. Karnik is an adjunct associate professor at the University of Texas at Austin.

In addition to Dr. Karnik's busy practice, he has started many valuable programs in Austin including an ADHD evaluation program, and the Vagal Nerve Stimulation Program for Children's Hospital. Dr. Karnik is the founder of the Starbright Pediatric Rehabilitation Program and serves as its Medical Director.

Dr. Karnik has chaired many medical CME conferences and is a sought-after speaker both nationally and inter-nationally. He has been selected on numerous occasions, as Best Speaker for various events/conferences. Dr. Karnik has received teaching awards from several residency programs.
